GTAC BURSARY STUDENTS

The Public Economics Bursary Programme was launched in 2016. Honours students in economics from all South African universities were invited to submit applications for full-time studies towards a master's degree in economics at a local university. After a rigorous selection process, which included a series of panel interviews, six students were selected for the 2017 academic year and another six for the 2018 year. In 2019 nine students have been selected and no bursaries are planned for the year ahead. The selected students were introduced to the National Treasury and GTAC at an on-boarding event at the start of their academic year. Each student has been matched with a trained mentor from the Treasury or GTAC, and all mentors and their mentees are supported through regular group coaching sessions. The first intake of students will be on-boarded as interns in January 2019 (please refer to our intern section), and the Treasury and GTAC are looking forward to welcoming them. The interns will undertake a series of developmental activities and be given a choice of rotations over the two-year internship period.
